Course Description: The focus of this course will be the interpretation and application of those rules in the Alabama Rules of Civil Procedure that civil litigators commonly encounter in their practice. Special attention will be paid during the course to the most recent decisions by the Alabama Supreme Court and the Alabama Court of Civil Appeals addressing civil procedure issues. As time permits, we will review the procedural aspects of certain kinds of civil lawsuits, such as wrongful death actions and workers’ compensation cases.

Course Objective: The goal of this course is to equip each student with an in-depth understanding of the rules of civil procedure, both for the bar examination and for undertaking the practice of law in Alabama. Although this is not a clinical class, we will spend some time reviewing and discussing “real life” pleadings and motions relating to particular rules of civil procedure.

Course Outline and Weekly Assignments: A course outline will be distributed on or before the first class session on August 21, 2013. Reading assignments typically will be provided by e-mail.

Text and Course Materials: Alabama Rules of Court, State (West 2013). Because the Alabama Rules of Civil Procedure are readily accessible on-line, it is not mandatory to purchase Alabama Rules of Court. We will also study selected Alabama cases and statutes, which will be distributed during class or provided by e-mail.

Class Attendance and Participation: Students are expected to attend class. Attendance will be governed by the Law School’s attendance policy, and an attendance roster will be kept. If you know in advance that you will be absent for a class, it will be helpful if you let me know by e-mail.
All students are expected to be prepared to discuss the assignment for each class. I will ask a lot of questions during class based on the assignments. I happily will take volunteers and as needed I will call on students randomly. Active and thoughtful class participation is desired from all students.

Make-up Classes: In the event that a class is canceled for any reason, I will make every effort to schedule a make-up class. Any last minute class cancellations or changes in schedule will be communicated via e-mail, so please check your e-mail prior to each class.

Examination and Grading: Your grade will be based on a final examination comprised of several essay questions which will be administered pursuant to the “floating examination” policy of the Law School.

ADA Accommodations: The Law School is committed to meeting the needs of students with physical, learning and other disabilities, and provides appropriate accommodations and services tailored to each person’s specific requirements. The Law School’s assistant deans and the University’s Office of Disability Services work together to help individuals with disabilities achieve and maintain individual autonomy. Students with disabilities may contact Claude Reeves Arrington, Associate Dean for Students/Academic Services at (205) 348-5750 carrington@law.ua.edu, so that any need for support services can be evaluated and accommodated in a timely manner.

Code of Academic Conduct Statement: All students in attendance at the University of Alabama are expected to be honorable and to observe standards of conduct appropriate to a community of scholars. The University expects from its students a higher standard of conduct than the minimum required to avoid discipline. Academic misconduct includes all acts of dishonesty in any academically related matter and any knowing or intentional help or attempt to help, or conspiracy to help, another student. The Academic Misconduct Disciplinary Policy will be followed in the event of academic misconduct.

Technology in Class: Cell phones, pagers and other communication devices must be turned off, or be on silent mode, and may not be used within the classroom. Recording of classes is not permitted. Students may use computers during class to review course materials and for taking notes.

Contact Information: Feel free to contact me if you have any questions. You may reach me by telephone at (205) 572-4920. You can send me an e-mail at addressed to craigalexander@ua.edu or calexander@rumberger.com (preferably the latter address). If you would like to schedule an in-person meeting, I will be happy to make arrangements to meet you in the Law School before or after class, and perhaps at other times.
